

PROFESSOR OF GENERAL PRACTICE AND DIRECTOR, PRIMARY CARE RESEARCH DANDENONG AND CASEY REGION

Monash University in conjunction with Southern Health and the Dandenong Casey General Practice Association is seeking an outstanding candidate to provide leadership in the School of Primary Health Care, within the University's Faculty of Medicine, Nursing and Health Sciences.

The appointee will be expected to provide research and teaching leadership in general practice, manage the activities of the Primary Care Research Unit Dandenong and Casey Region, including undergraduate and postgraduate education programs; and contribute to the faculty's planning, management and administrative processes.

The successful candidate will have a Fellowship (or equivalent) of a Royal College of General Practice, research doctorate or equivalent research achievement in a relevant discipline; an international reputation for outstanding research; a record of obtaining external grants for research and in successful supervision of postgraduate research students; proven excellence in teaching; and highly developed skills of leadership, networking and management.

The appointment will be for fixed-term of three years. Subject to performance and other criteria, a further term would be negotiable.

A competitive remuneration package will be negotiable for an outstanding appointee. Relocation travel, removal allowance and salary packaging are available.

Monash offers a range of professional development programs, support for research, study and overseas work, generous maternity leave and flexible work arrangements.

Enquiries only to Professor Leon Piterman, Head, School of Primary Health Care, +61 3 8575 2213 or email: Leon.Piterman@med.monash.edu.au.

Applications

Applications close 16 January 2009.

The position description (including the selection criteria) and information on how to apply can be found at www.monash.edu/jobs/senior.

The University, DCGPA and Southern Health reserve the right to appoint by invitation.